Description

This EasyHedgeCut 18-45 has a blade speed of 2400spm with a blade length of 45cm.

Bosch has added an anti-blocking system to allow for continuous, powerful cutting.

This is a lightweight model so will reduce strain on the person using it, with a design built for comfort.

Equipped with a 450mm blade, the EASYHEDGE CUT 18-45 is a cordless hedge trimmer powered by a Bosch Power4All 18v lithium ion battery (included), meaning it shares battery compatibility with a wide range of cordless tools for the home and garden. Weighing just 2.3 kilos, it cuts small, young hedges efficiently every time – up to 160 square metres per battery charge.

This is made possible by the optimum coordination of key components such as the motor and the gearbox, combined with an intelligent electronic energy management system – the Bosch Syneon Chip – so that users can always benefit from the maximum runtime per battery charge.

What's more, the hedge cutter is powerful right up to the last cut: It holds its full power until the battery is empty. The tried-and-tested Anti-Blocking system celebrates its tenth anniversary this year. It ensures that work progresses rapidly, even when tackling thicker branches: If the blades fail to cut through a thick or particularly hard branch at the first attempt, micro-electronics in the motor adjust the running direction of the blades so that they are repeatedly applied to the same point until the branch has been cut through. This feature is unique to Bosch. A two-handed safety switch and guard provide user safety while cordless operation means no more tangled power leads and extension cables to get in the way.
