Description

Vitax Perlite Compost Additive 10L

Primarily a compost additive to help stimulate root development and growth, Perlite holds water and nutrients, producing a healthier growing media.

Perlite can be used for seed starting, rooted cuttings, potting-on or planting out. If using for seed starting, Perlite's structure maintains moisture and temperature levels.

Its bright white colour provides protection against bright sunlight and high radiant energy. It also reflects light under the plants foliage to encourage growth.

Perlite is a naturally occurring volcanic rock which, when heated to high temperatures, produces lightweight micro-porous granules.

Before use, dampen Perlite to reduce dust. If using the whole bag, add about a litre of water and allow to soak.
