Description

Ascalon Solar Watering Can Garden Stake

Turning natural sunlight into bright led light, a pretty little way to lighten a pathway or add decorative detail to your beds & borders.

Supplied with a Shepherds Crook stake that pushes easily into soft ground, simply dangle the Watering Can, exposing the panel to full light so it can gain charge throughout the day.

As soon as dusk starts to fall, watch for streams of light filtering through the body and a magical trickling effect from the spout.

Requiring no complicated wiring or electricity, an inexpensive way to add charm to any uninspired space in the garden.

Ornament height: 80cm.
