Traditional chestnut paling is a versatile rustic hardwood fencing with umpteen imaginative uses and suitable as both temporary or permanent fixtures. Once in place gives an attractive heritage appearance that will remain hard wearing and maintenance free for years.

Cleft Chestnut pales are spaced evenly apart, held in place by twisted wire strands & secured top and bottom by straining wires for added strength. Easy to erect, easy to move, the fencing is increasingly popular due to its organic look, ability to flex around corners and follow the natural contours of the land.
