Description

Hozelock 2212 Electronic Sensor Controller

We all know that watering at sunrise or sunset is the optimum time to minimise water evaporation and leaf scorch, however it's not always convenient at these times.

The Hozelock Sensor features an innovative daylight sensor to automatically adjust your watering schedule to start at sunrise and sunset. No programming required, the daylight sensor automatically adjusts as the seasons change.

You can select from watering duration of 2, 5, 10, 20, 30 or 60 minutes and it's easy to adjust in case you need to react to changing weather conditions.

Also features a 'Water Now' button to dispense water outside of the automatic schedule. Press the button to select watering for a 10, 30 or 60 minute duration and simply press again to cancel the operation for shorter periods.

The Sensor Controller is a fully versatile unit that can be used with Garden Sprinklers (up to 10 Bar), low pressure micro irrigation watering (1.5 Bar), or Water Butts (0.1 Bar).

Requires 2 x AA Batteries (not supplied).
