Description

Galvanised Rabbit Netting 1050mm x 31mm x 50M

Whether fencing an entirely new area or attaching to an existing fence line, this hexagonal rabbit proof fencing is quick and economical to erect.

Hot dipped to prevent corrosion, the extra height allows part to be buried underground to protect from tunnelling and features an optimum 1 1/4" aperture to discourage even the youngest from squeezing through.

An ideal solution for small holders & keen gardeners where crops & plants are persistently under threat as well protecting grazing areas from the effects of long term devastation.

As rabbits are adept at getting through the smallest of holes, make sure you choose to protect your landscape with an especially designed product.
