Description

Seeland Woodcock Fleece Waistcoat Classic Blue

Crafted from a soft micro-fleece, this Woodcock fleece vest has been purposely designed for shooting pursuits as offers excellent temperature-regulating properties alongside full freedom of movement.

The micro-fleece is woven using a thin polyester yarn, producing many more tiny air pockets than in a traditional woven fleece. These air pockets are readily warmed by the body, giving them enhanced insulating properties. At the same time, they let the body breathe, so moisture is quickly wicked away and you stay dry.

The zip and collar are protected by a soft hem, and the V-shaped neck shape allows for plenty of room to wear a shirt and tie underneath without compromising on comfort or insulation.

Great for the transitioning wardrobe as well as an optimum layer for when the really cold weather sets in.

For more formal occasions with head to toe functionality, dress with matching items in the Seeland Advanced range.
