Containing around 50 times more calcium than other insects or worms, dried Calciworms are an excellent supplemental product to premium quality wild bird feeds.

Calcium is crucial for maintaining a strong skeletal system, for egg development, muscle contraction, nerve impulses, and a host of other important metabolic systems.

They also aid the absorption of phosphorus, another vital mineral for the birds in your garden, and high in protein & fat, making them very nutritious and palatable.

Nutritious and palatable, dried Calciworms should be fed all year round; particularly in winter and spring, during nesting season.

Suitable for: Blackbirds, Robins, Blue Tits, Coal Tits, Great Tits, Bullfinches, Buntings, Linnets, Starlings, Wagtails, Goldfinches, Chaffinches, Greenfinches, Dunnocks, Great Spotted Woodpeckers, Tree Sparrows, House Sparrows, Nuthatches, Siskins, Song Thrushes, Mistle Thrushes, Bramblings, Stonechats, Wrens, Wagtails, and Yellowhammers.
