Description

Stihl MH 445 Petrol Tiller

The STIHL tiller MH 445 is ideal for use on confined plots of land and small flower beds. Compact dimensions and a standard width of 45 cm ensure a high degree of manoeuvrability while working. The working width can be reduced to 25 cm to plough particularly narrow rows. The powerful, durable petrol engine helps you make quick and easy work of turning the soil.

The blades dig into the ground, break up clods of earth and mix the soil with an optimised burrowing action. The height-adjustable brake spur guarantees precision control. The anti-vibration system absorbs the majority of vibrations from the engine, which minimises fatigue and allows you to operate the tiller for longer.

Effective balancing and the central handlebar adjustment feature ensure comfortable handling, allowing you to guide the machine ergonomically and with minimal effort. Prior to performing cleaning or assembly work, the STIHL MH 445 can be tipped onto its transport wheels to give easier access to the blades.

Cleaning position - In the cleaning position, the blades on the STIHL tiller are easy to clean, assemble and disassemble.

Anti-vibration system - The anti-vibration system is integrated in the handlebar mount on the STIHL tiller. It reduces the vibrations at the handlebar, which also reduces the effort required to operate the machine for extended periods.

Dividable hoe set - The dividable hoe set accompanying this STIHL tiller allows the variable adjustment of the working width. As a result, crops can be planted in rows close to one another. The lateral discs protect existing plants from sustaining damage during tilling.
